

Introduction: Do you know the numbers? Can you count? Would you be able to collaborate with your classmates to find different solutions and strategies to share?

Summary
Object/discipline	English
Theme	Telling the time
Age range	45 years
Main topic	Participate in conversation. Takes turns during structured activities.
Key concepts	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Mathematical games● Motor games● Structured routes

objectives
<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Recognize and identify the basic vocabulary related to telling time in English● Understand and use the phrases "o'clock," "half-past," and "quarter past" in the context of time.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Read and create simple clocks to practice telling time.

Necessary equipment/materials

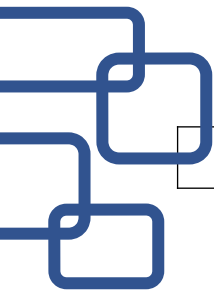

- Large clock with moveable hands (teacher's aid)
- Small clocks for each student (paper cutouts with moveable hands)
- Flashcards with images of different times on the clock (e.g., 3:00, 6:30, 12:15)

- Whiteboard and markers
 - Clock-related coloring sheets
- Storybook with a time-related theme (optional)

Lesson outline
Lesson phase	Duration	Description
Heating	15 minutes	Begin with a short discussion about daily routines. Ask students about their daily activities and when they usually do them. Introduce the concept of time and explain that we use clocks to know when to do different things. Show the large clock with moveable hands and explain the different parts (hour hand, minute hand, and numbers).
	5 minutes	Introduce basic vocabulary related to time: "o'clock," "half-past," and "quarter past." Use flashcards to illustrate each term, showing the corresponding time on the clock. Practice pronunciation and encourage students to repeat after you.
Principal activity	15 minutes	Distribute small clocks to each student. Instruct them to decorate and label their clocks with the numbers and the phrases "o'clock," "half-past," and "quarter past." Assist students in attaching moveable hands to their clocks.
	15 minutes	Use the flashcards to play a game where students take turns selecting a card and telling the class the time shown. Encourage them to use the phrases "o'clock," "half-past," and "quarter past." For added fun, use a timer to create a sense of urgency and excitement.
	10 minutes	Distribute clock-related coloring sheets to each student. While they color, engage in conversation about different times of the day.
Assessment	10 minutes	Review the key concepts: "o'clock," "half-past," and "quarter past." Have a closing discussion about the importance of time in our daily lives. Optionally, read a storybook with a time-related theme to reinforce the lesson.

--	--	-----------------------

Conclusions and Recommendations
Assign simple homework, such as drawing a clock and showing a specific time, or practicing telling time with a parent or guardian.	Adjust the duration of each activity based on the attention span of the students. Keep the activities engaging and interactive to ensure a positive learning experience.

The material is developed within the Erasmus+ project PreEdTech - Improving the Pedagogical and ICT skills of Pre-School Teachers and Educators in the Digital Era , grant agreement number: 2021-1-RO01-KA220-SCH-000027894.

This project has been funded with support from the European Commission. This publication reflects the views only of the author, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein.

 Co-funded by the European Union

Project website www.preedtech-project.eu