Main activity	10	Challenge children to a guessing game to remind them about autumn fruits and vegetables. Use either the wordwall or kahoot version of the activity. https://wordwall.net/resource/58252273 (RO) https://wordwall.net/resource/58603090 (EN) or https://create.kahoot.it/details/4a90abdf-c708-4776-aca8-69e3d1c7d5b8

Assessment	5	Use informal verbal formative assessment related to children's performance as you observe, listen and participate in experiences with children. Identify weaknesses by engaging children in new activities that revise those concepts. https://wordwall.net/resource/9742030/weather
	5	Talk with the children about what they have learned about autumn and its elements. Ask them to draw what they found most amazing on the interactive board.

Conclusions and recommendations

Autumn is a broad theme and can include many activities that are beneficial for learning about the environment during the autumn season. Involve children in various activities of this kind. Going out in nature and investigating the phenomena studied together with digital activities will help children to learn about this season much easier. So you can involve children in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● games ● songs ● stories ● observation If children have not yet learned to read, read the text/instructions to them.	The discussions are particularly important because they strike the right balance between digital and traditional. As recommendations, observe and check each child when they are involved in activities. Focus on what they need and help them to correct themselves. Make sure they feel comfortable and enjoy their success. Use informal verbal formative assessment related to children's performance as you observe, listen and participate in experiences with children. Your feedback should be immediate, specific, positive, focusing on performance and helping children self-correct (Are you sure the picture illustrates rain? What do you think?).
